Prominent Officials to Appear Before the Commissioner.

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—It is not certain that A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania Railway company, will be called as a witness before the Interstate Commerce commission which today resumed its investigation in the alleged discrimination in the distribution of coal cars. No subpoena has been issued for President Cassatt, however, Commissioner Clements said.

"We will not ask the highest officials of any of the roads to appear until we have learned all that is possible from their subordinates and then if we think we want more light on the subject we may send for them. However, we will not stop until we know all about this matter. As far as I know there has been no communication on the subject between the commission and President Cassatt."

A number of officials of the New York Central railroad will be among the witnesses during the present hearing. E. V. Rossiter, president of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad, in charge of the financial department, was the first witness.

ASSEMBLY DENIES PERMISSION TO SAN FRANCISCO TO GROW RADIANT

SACRAMENTO, June 5.—The first session of the session dealing with proposed improvements of San Francisco was given at last night's session of the house by the defeat of the proposed constitutional amendment. No vote will be taken on the matter.

The measure provided for the improvement of the city which has been under consideration for some time. The measure is a vote of thirty-eight to twenty-two in the assembly.

There were no speeches made against the measure but it only thing said in its favor was that it had been prepared with a great deal of care and had gone through the publicity committee without being amended.

The measure provided an amendment to the constitution by adding a new section to article 11. It empowered the supervisors of San Francisco to act as follows: "The supervisors of the city of San Francisco are authorized to acquire by purchase, lease or otherwise, any and all lands, buildings and structures within the city limits for the purpose of changing, widening or extending the lines of its streets and the lines, routes, terms or conditions of any privileges or franchises in pipes, pipes, conduits, wires or railways now held or enjoyed by any person, firm or corporation in or on any of its streets to regulate and restrict the use of its streets and the operation of any privilege or franchise therein or thereon as to protect its streets and any improvements which may be made thereon from destruction damage or injury provided that no lands now owned by said city and county of San Francisco shall be sold or exchanged unless such sale or exchange shall first be authorized by a majority of the voters of said city and county voting thereon at a special election called for the purpose of such authorization."

TENANT AND AGENT PACIFIED

QUARREL OVER OCCUPANCY OF HOUSE IS SETTLED AND CHARGE DISMISSED.

The case of Henry Tumlin and Jennie Foster was dismissed in Judge Samuel's court this morning on motion of the complaining witness P. M. Cady. It is a case that has held over through the legal holidays. The defendants, colored, were tenants of Cady, who wished them to move in order that he might house tenants who could pay more. On the representation so they agreed that he would let them move into another of his houses he had their goods moved out and left them in the street. They then went to one of his unoccupied houses and took possession refusing to move. Tumlin according to Cady's complaint drew a knife when he was ordered out and his arrest on a charge of disturbing the peace followed.

The trouble has evidently been patched up since Cady asking for a dismissal and agreeing to pay all costs.

TRACTION COMPANY GIVES THE POOREST OF SERVICE

Delegation of Hayward Citizens Makes a Bitter Complaint Before the Board of Supervisors.

A delegation of indignant Hayward citizens, headed by Charles Heyer, president of the city trustees of Hayward, appeared before the board of supervisors today and spoke in the severest condemnation of the service given Hayward and towns between Oakland and that city by the Oakland Traction company. Representatives of the traction company were to have been present, but did not appear, it being given out that President E. A. Heron was ill. That, however, did not prevent the Hayward people from speaking eloquently and warmly against the street railway company's methods, which were denounced as not only backward, but stupid. It was asserted that the company was cutting its own throat and losing money by its policy of a slow schedule, rough roads, antiquated cars and poor connections with local trains.

POOR SERVICE.
Attention was called to the fact that the service was no better than it was fifteen years ago, and that even in the last year, despite the growth of the town, the time of running cars had been changed from seven and one-half to a fifteen-minute schedule.

DR. BROWNING TALKS.
Dr. F. E. Browning was the first speaker and touched principally on the fares charged.

"The fare from Hayward to Oakland," he said, "is twenty-five cents, and it is given that enables one to ride to the country line on the same fare. But, on returning, it costs five cents to go to Melrose, and the fare from there to Hayward is twenty-five cents. This makes the fare to the country line twenty-five cents going and thirty cents returning—a manifest injustice."

"Another injustice is in the matter of commutation tickets. The company will not issue a complete monthly ticket for $5, which is a good price for the work done. A holder of only one work day's commutation ticket has to pay full fare to Oakland and return on Sundays, and those who are compelled to travel back and forth between Hayward and Oakland on Sundays have to pay nearly half as much for that privilege during a month as they do for all their workday rides."

THE FARES.
"The fare between San Leandro and Hayward is too high in comparison with other fares along the line. Between San Leandro and Oakland the fare is twenty-five cents for the round trip. Yet between Hayward and San Leandro, the same distance, the fare is fifteen cents each way."

"Now in the matter of connection with boats and trains. Leaving San Francisco on a boat that sails on the hour—say at 11 o'clock—one can sometimes catch a Hayward car from Oakland care at Twenty-third avenue. Taking the 11:20 boat, one is compelled to wait 10 minutes, and on the 11:40, twice that long. Even worse is the connection with the last car from Oakland, which leaves shortly before midnight. The train from the mole arrives before midnight. The train from the mole arrives at Seventh and Washington at practically the same time. Yet, if the train is but a few seconds late, the Hayward car leaves on the second, refusing to wait. On this account, Hayward people have to take a train to Twenty-third avenue where there is a long wait for the Hayward car."

COMPELLED TO STAND.
"The fifteen-minute schedule makes it almost impossible to get a car at the time one needs it."

CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

Joseph Lonergan, who accidentally shot and killed Wade Davis yesterday at St. Mary's college, was arraigned this morning in department 2 of the police court on a charge of manslaughter. The case was continued to June 5 by Judge Samuels, pending the filing of a complaint.

REPORT OF SCIENTISTS.
From the purely scientific point of view the earthquake of April 18 is one of the most interesting on record. A complete study of the phenomenon will contribute greatly, not only to our knowledge of the evolution of the earth's crust, but also to the means of minimizing the calamities which arise from the destruction of buildings, water pipes and other structures. Certain of the studies fall within the province of the engineer and architect and will be of great value in the future construction of buildings in San Francisco and throughout the state.

The peculiarity of surface features along the line of the coast ranges of California lies in the fact that they are not due to atmospheric and steam erosion of the uplifted masses, but have been formed by a dislocation of the earth's crust. Along this line are very commonly found abrupt changes in the normal slope of the valley sides, giving rise to what are technically known as scarps. These scarps are the result of the desert parts of the coast ranges in the carina plain the aggregate of features is commonly referred to as the earthquake crack.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. ago. Think of that. Has not Alameda county grown in fifteen years? And are not the people settled to a street car service in proportion to the growth of the community? The towns have grown, the country between them has become more thickly populated. From Oakland to San Leandro is almost a continuous city, and the five miles between San Leandro and Hayward is nearly as thickly inhabited. Make the traction company do its duty, and soon we will have a continuous city along the ten miles from Oakland to Hayward.

POOR CARS.
"The condition of the cars is below par. Formerly we had large vestibuled cars, but they have been taken off, and in their place we have the refuse of the company's lines—small cars that have been in commission for years, and should have been in the scrap-heap years ago. It is an actual fact that in rainy weather passengers inside the cars have to hold umbrellas on account of the leaky condition of the car roofs."

LIFE ENDANGERED.
"In Hayward, human life is endangered by the condition of the track. The electrical conditions are imperfect, and if one steps on the track, not a moving car, a short circuit is made, producing a severe shock. I have seen horses fall to their knees through the shock. My own horse was gentle when I first got him, but he now knows the danger that lurks in the tracks, and I can hardly get him near a street car. Other horses there are as badly frightened of the cars through similar experiences. The condition is the worst at 13 and Castro streets, the busiest corner in town. This is criminal negligence. Other towns along the route suffer in the same manner."

T. V. O'BRIEN.
T. V. O'Brien, proprietor of the Hayward Hotel followed Dr. Browning, and began by quoting section 491 of the civil code, which he interpreted as giving the supervisors full power to correct such conditions as were complained of.

"I am charitable enough," said Mr. O'Brien, "to believe that it is on account of their ignorance of conditions, rather than through deliberate intention, that the Traction company gives us such poor service. It does not seem possible that men of any business ability would be so blind to their own interests as to deliberately ruin this business, as the managers of this road are doing. For that reason, I feel that we are doing them a favor in publicly calling attention to their drawbacks, in order that they may apply a remedy."

"Take the matter of connecting with the train at Melrose. If ever a lack of brains was shown it is there. It seems as though the crew were instructed to pull out just as the train is pulling in—for that is what they invariably do, leaving a lot of angry passengers to wait for the next car. It is the most preposterous, ridiculous, totally unexplainable thing I ever saw. If the traction company and the Southern Pacific were fighting each other there might be some reason for the action. But the traction company could make more money by taking advantage of the Southern Pacific schedule. And if they won't do this and other things that the people not only demand, but are entitled to, there is a power to make them do it. We have reached the limit of our patience."

THE SCHEDULE.
"It is almost unbelievable, yet it is true, that the schedule on this road is now the same as it was fifteen years ago."

REPORT TO GOVERNOR ON THE EARTHQUAKE

SACRAMENTO, June 4.—The committee authorized by the governor to investigate and inquire into the origin and character of the disturbance of the earth's crust which gave rise to the earthquake has completed and addressed to the governor its preliminary report.

This body of scientists, known as the state earthquake investigating commission, has been at work several weeks investigating the temblor throughout the state, gathering data and compiling statistics. Professor Andrew C. Lawson of the state university, Professor A. C. Gilbert of the United States geological survey, Professor Fielding R. Johnson of Stanford university, Professor J. C. Branner of Stanford university, Professor A. O. Leuschner and Professor George Davidson of the state university, Professor Charles Burkhalter of the Chair of Observatory and Professor William Wallace Campbell, director of the Lick Observatory, are the members of the commission.

The scientists continued on April 24 and outlined the work under three branches. Following is their report in part:

COURTS RESUME THEIR BUSINESS

The superior courts of the county opened for the trial of cases this morning. A large number of attorneys and litigants were present. Judge Ellisworth's department is in such a condition on account of plastering and papering that it cannot be used for the trial of cases, and orders were made by Judge Ellisworth for the cases on his calendar for one week.

Judge Henry McElin is attending the session of the legislature, and was not present in his court. The calendar in the probate department, over which he presides, was called by Judge Waste. Because of the urgent court orders, all business was continued.

Judge F. B. Ogden was not present in court, and his calendar was called by Judge Ellisworth. The matters pending there were continued.

Judge Waste called his own calendar, and is ready for the trial of criminal cases. He will probably have a few short ones assigned to his department this week, and then begin for the third time to hear the trial of Percy Pembroke next Monday.

Judge Ellisworth is ready to begin the trial of criminal cases, and will also take up the work as fast as the cases are assigned to him and when he can find a courtroom unoccupied, as his own cannot be used at present.

Judge Harris, in the criminal department, was busy all the morning calling a long calendar and disposing of matters concerning cases, and this afternoon entered upon the trial of Henry A. Logan.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—A warrant was issued this morning by Police Judge Cabaniss for the arrest of John Lahey, a seaman employed by J. F. Gough, corner of Sixth and King streets, on a charge of felony embezzlement.

Lahey is alleged to have collected $112 after delivering some furniture and to have departed without notice.

ARRIVED

PRESIDENT HEYER.
Charles Heyer, president of the board of trustees of Hayward, spoke briefly.

"I would like to ask the board of supervisors to give us some relief, if it is in their position," he said.

"The miserable, insufficient service given Hayward and the other towns is doing them a great injury, working hardship on the people who already are here, and keeping others from coming. We have seen the result of the managers' neglect of the company, but cannot get any definite promises from it; so we come before you and ask you to do something for our relief."

HARRY MECK.
Harry W. Meek asserted that the service was not as good as ten years ago.

"The cars do not connect with anything," he said, "and the roadbed is abominable. The service has been allowed to deteriorate until it is totally inadequate."

Chairman Mitchell of the board of supervisors asked Mr. Meek if he had not one of the best parties in the city in question. On receiving an affirmative reply, Mr. Mitchell asked him if he thought the supervisors had power to give the relief asked. Mr. Meek replied that his temporary connection with the road had not qualified him to decide that. Mr. Mitchell said he was doubtful if the supervisors had the power to regulate the company's time schedule and train connections, but that for his part he would like to see it done.

BOARD'S POWER.
This discussion of the board's power brought E. H. Marwedel to his feet. Mr. Marwedel asserted that according to law the board had full power to do what was asked of it.

Through the supervisors, granted the traction company the franchise to operate its road, on the condition that the people should be given adequate service. It is ridiculous to suppose that the supervisors would grant a franchise, then cannot regulate the company that receives it."

No traction company representatives were present, and only one side of the case having been presented, the matter was taken under consideration.

STUDENT SLAIN BY FRIEND

Joseph Lonergan Fatally Wounded by Wade Davis.

Wade Davis, a 16-year-old student at St. Mary's college, was accidentally shot and killed yesterday morning by Joseph A. Lonergan, his classmate and chum, who "did not know the weapon he was flourishing was loaded."

Davis died an hour after the accident, and Lonergan was arrested by Captain of Police Lynch for manslaughter, but was released on his own recognizance.

Davis, Lonergan and Arthur Foley, who witnessed the shooting, were boon companions and were almost inseparable. They had planned to spend their summer vacation together in the mountains, and a few days ago Lonergan, in violation of the college rules, purchased a cheap 38-caliber revolver. The weapon was concealed in Davis' trunk.

Shortly after nine o'clock yesterday morning the three boys went to the trunk-room to inspect the revolver. When the trunk was opened, Davis picked up a knife, and Lonergan took the revolver to explain its merits to young Foley, and laughingly challenged Davis, who held the knife aloft, to a duel.

WARNING IS UNHEEDED.
As he made the challenge Lonergan pulled the trigger. There was no report, and Davis exclaimed, "Look out! It may be loaded!"

But as the warning came Lonergan pulled the trigger again. There was loud report, and Davis fell to the floor a ghastly wound in his right temple. Lonergan and Foley ran from the room and notified the brothers of the college, who telephoned to the Providence hospital, two blocks away, and removed the wounded boy to the hospital ward connected with the college.

Dr. F. J. Todd quickly responded to the telephone call, and was joined shortly afterward by Drs. W. S. Porter and J. H. Maher. The three physicians worked over the boy for more than an hour, but he was beyond human aid and died about 10:30 o'clock.

The bullet entered Davis' right temple and lodged in the brain. Coroner Mehrmann and Chief of Police Wilson arrived upon the scene soon after the boy died, and after an investigation decided that the shooting was purely accidental. It was upon their recommendation that Police Judge Smith ordered Lonergan's release.

The body was removed to the morgue where an inquest will be held next Thursday night.

BROKE THE COLLEGE RULES.
"We bought the pistol several days ago to take with us on a trip to the mountains that we had planned for this summer," said Lonergan, who is almost prostrated by grief over the death of his friend. "My trunk was not secure, and as it was against the rules of the college to have firearms, we put it into Davis' trunk. I was positive that the revolver was unloaded when there was no report after I first pulled the trigger. Wade Davis was one of my best friends, and I would give my own life to bring him back to life."

Davis had been attending the academic department of St. Mary's college since the first of the year. He was sixteen years old and, like the boy who shot him, was considered an exemplary student by the college authorities. His parents formerly lived at 1517 Larkin street, San Francisco, but their home was destroyed in the fire, and they are now refugees. A search is now being made for them.

Lonergan, who will not be sixteen years old until next December, is one of the college athletes. The home of his parents is at Vineland, in northern California.

Arthur Foley, who witnessed the shooting and who corroborated Lonergan in all the details of the sad affair, lives at 1177 McAllister street, San Francisco, with his parents.

STUDENT SLAIN BY FRIEND

Joseph Lonergan Fatally Wounded by Wade Davis.

Wade Davis, a 16-year-old student at St. Mary's college, was accidentally shot and killed yesterday morning by Joseph A. Lonergan, his classmate and chum, who "did not know the weapon he was flourishing was loaded."

Davis died an hour after the accident, and Lonergan was arrested by Captain of Police Lynch for manslaughter, but was released on his own recognizance.

Davis, Lonergan and Arthur Foley, who witnessed the shooting, were boon companions and were almost inseparable. They had planned to spend their summer vacation together in the mountains, and a few days ago Lonergan, in violation of the college rules, purchased a cheap 38-caliber revolver. The weapon was concealed in Davis' trunk.

Shortly after nine o'clock yesterday morning the three boys went to the trunk-room to inspect the revolver. When the trunk was opened, Davis picked up a knife, and Lonergan took the revolver to explain its merits to young Foley, and laughingly challenged Davis, who held the knife aloft, to a duel.

WARNING IS UNHEEDED.
As he made the challenge Lonergan pulled the trigger. There was no report, and Davis exclaimed, "Look out! It may be loaded!"

But as the warning came Lonergan pulled the trigger again. There was loud report, and Davis fell to the floor a ghastly wound in his right temple. Lonergan and Foley ran from the room and notified the brothers of the college, who telephoned to the Providence hospital, two blocks away, and removed the wounded boy to the hospital ward connected with the college.

Dr. F. J. Todd quickly responded to the telephone call, and was joined shortly afterward by Drs. W. S. Porter and J. H. Maher. The three physicians worked over the boy for more than an hour, but he was beyond human aid and died about 10:30 o'clock.

The bullet entered Davis' right temple and lodged in the brain. Coroner Mehrmann and Chief of Police Wilson arrived upon the scene soon after the boy died, and after an investigation decided that the shooting was purely accidental. It was upon their recommendation that Police Judge Smith ordered Lonergan's release.

The body was removed to the morgue where an inquest will be held next Thursday night.

BROKE THE COLLEGE RULES.
"We bought the pistol several days ago to take with us on a trip to the mountains that we had planned for this summer," said Lonergan, who is almost prostrated by grief over the death of his friend. "My trunk was not secure, and as it was against the rules of the college to have firearms, we put it into Davis' trunk. I was positive that the revolver was unloaded when there was no report after I first pulled the trigger. Wade Davis was one of my best friends, and I would give my own life to bring him back to life."

Davis had been attending the academic department of St. Mary's college since the first of the year. He was sixteen years old and, like the boy who shot him, was considered an exemplary student by the college authorities. His parents formerly lived at 1517 Larkin street, San Francisco, but their home was destroyed in the fire, and they are now refugees. A search is now being made for them.

Lonergan, who will not be sixteen years old until next December, is one of the college athletes. The home of his parents is at Vineland, in northern California.

Arthur Foley, who witnessed the shooting and who corroborated Lonergan in all the details of the sad affair, lives at 1177 McAllister street, San Francisco, with his parents.

MIDWINTER MIRACLES IN DINNER GOWNS

VELVET, TULLE, LACE
AND CHIFFON ALIKE
FASHIONABLE AND FASCINATING

Fest which puts an end to dances and is supposed to usher in a season of dullness. It is no penitence and prayer, is given to the occasion for unlimited dinner giving. Consequent dinner gowns are for the moment the all important topic of conversation whether the remainder of the winter is to be spent in the city or out of town.

Dinner gowns of today are quite as elaborate as bill gowns and it is extremely difficult for an amateur to tell the difference between them. The former are always made to have sleeves short or all on one side, and a row of buttons or a row of lace or a row of ribbon or a row of something else. The latter are usually made to have sleeves short or all on one side, and a row of buttons or a row of lace or a row of ribbon or a row of something else.

All materials are fashionable for dinner gowns this winter and it is merely a question of individual choice as to whether these shall be velvet, tulle, lace, or chiffon. The former are more elaborate and the latter are more simple. The former are more expensive and the latter are more cheap.

The waists of all evening gowns are very elaborate and the rule has of late been to make them up as a separate unit. The former are more elaborate and the latter are more simple. The former are more expensive and the latter are more cheap.

Velvet and tulle are the most popular materials for dinner gowns. Velvet is a very rich material and tulle is a very light material. Both are very fashionable and both are very expensive.

Broaded satins are made up on the picturesque order and have been very popular for some time. The coloring of these satins is very rich and the texture is very soft.

The old fashioned style of dress with the front breadth or petticoat of another material looks well made in tulle and lace. The same style of dress was so beautiful two seasons ago—the flowered head made with a perfect plain circular skirt and a plain waist excepting for the bertha of fine point lace—re-emerges in even this winter and is always the most effective.

Princess gowns in velvet satin or brocade, with a simple trimming of lace here and there, are always distinctive and smart. The trouble is that they are rather conspicuous. If a bit of color is chosen and it is scarcely possible to remodel the gown so satisfactorily that it will not look too much like a made-over. White and gold with large or small figures in subdued coloring are the most fashionable of all designs at present, but there are some who prefer color brocades that make up beautifully and are certainly extremely attractive.

nourishes the body. Some of the greatest beauties of whom history tells have depended upon the olive for the preservation and strengthening of their charms. Tradition tells that both Cleopatra and Zenobia partook freely of the oil and used it after the bath, while Mmes. Remond and Patti are other exponents of its virtues as a beautifier. The American housewife has yet to learn that there are many ways of using the oil besides in salad dressings. It may be used with good effect as a substitute for butter in cooking. A teaspoonful of oil added to every quart of split pea, bean, potato or other soup lacking fat, just before taking up, greatly increases its richness, as well as flavor. As a frying medium it has no equal, and is not extravagant, as a little goes a great way. Fish or game that is to be broiled should be broiled over first with a little of the oil. In all invalid cooking olive oil should be used in place of butter. A child soon learns to prefer it on its bread, and should be encouraged to eat all it likes. Any cold meat the la to be recalled is improved by having a little oil poured over it at least an hour before heating. EM 4A. PADDOCK TELFORD.

Stock Collars.

The general use of the stock collar and the dainty little turnovers which are worn with almost every sort of neckwear makes it difficult to provide for the fastidious. The Japanese make sets of turnovers of all sorts of materials, as well as stocks with "lace" ends in front and, as they adopt the prevailing mode as to manufacture, the charm of the Japanese work lies in its delicate stitches and the originality displayed in drawn thread combinations.

Quite different from the Japanese work, and something of a surprise from people who perhaps never wore a turnover collar, are the dainty Persian lace turnovers made in the finest of hand lace patterns, usually in silk.

The Persians have made their lace collars in a succession of closely woven disks of open thread lace, joined together in rows. Where the disks are too small to make a turnover of a single row several are placed in pyramid fashion, with the points down. Being hand made, they cannot become common.

It is becoming more and more the style for women to order their turnovers made from some worker in fine needlework, so as to get originality of design, and the women do so for such things make their own stocks and turnovers of bits of lace, embroidery, little fancy braids and tiny buttons. Most of the popular needlework stitches for come upon the braid that are so well made as to give the impression of handwork and these are a good deal of time to busy women.

It is a pretty fashion which combines berthas and collars and has the turnovers of the same pattern of lace, and the Persians have manufactured long, silky scarfs of the finest lace, with berthas in for a fair and richly wrought braid, in pairs that match each other and so contribute additional charm to the toilet of the wearer.

Red haired people it is said are less liable to become bald than those with hair of any other color.

For dinner gowns and evening gowns, the most popular materials are velvet, tulle, lace, and chiffon. The former are more elaborate and the latter are more simple. The former are more expensive and the latter are more cheap.

This year on some great many varieties of materials are being used. The most popular are velvet, tulle, lace, and chiffon. The former are more elaborate and the latter are more simple. The former are more expensive and the latter are more cheap.

Gowns in pale colors are as fashionable as the all white and plain chiffons in different shades. Made in accord with the latest fashion, these are very smart and very attractive.

Long drawing sleeves or elbow sleeves with long tails of lace are very popular though not always becoming and it is true that they are rather ungainly but it is possible and not at all difficult to have a sleeve made after this model.

High and Low Neck Dinner Gowns. A high neck dinner gown is supposed to be made in the latest fashion. The former are more elaborate and the latter are more simple. The former are more expensive and the latter are more cheap.

In these days when people dine so often in public restaurants and hotels, the dinner gown is apt to be a very important part of the outfit. The former are more elaborate and the latter are more simple. The former are more expensive and the latter are more cheap.

There is no difference between the high and low neck dinner gowns. The former are more elaborate and the latter are more simple. The former are more expensive and the latter are more cheap.

Dressmakers find it these high neck dinner gowns the best opportunity imaginable for turning out the smartest frocks and it is not difficult to see that a woman travels in as better in any other gown in her outfit.

Angled and plain lace and chiffon are the most popular materials for dinner gowns. The former are more elaborate and the latter are more simple. The former are more expensive and the latter are more cheap.

A rather close fitting skirt with some fullness just at the back, made of lace net or tulle, is a very popular style. The former are more elaborate and the latter are more simple. The former are more expensive and the latter are more cheap.

The sleeves of the dinner gown are usually made of lace net or tulle. The former are more elaborate and the latter are more simple. The former are more expensive and the latter are more cheap.

It would have been a very handsome dinner gown if it had been made of lace net or tulle. The former are more elaborate and the latter are more simple. The former are more expensive and the latter are more cheap.

How Olive Oil is made and its uses as a Health Food.

The apostles of the olive oil cult, who are as imbued with the proper national spirit as the hymning "Praise Be" as the result of the first of the series of investigations in the adulteration of foods and the new food laws. Those who have learned to appreciate the California oil—may bear witness that a careful analysis has determined the fact that the California oil is for the most part genuine. Indeed out of two of fifteen samples analyzed, olive oil proved to have anything else in them. The various trade oils are all adulterated, but olive oil is the only one that is pure.

Another popular notion exploited by the departmental chemist is that cottonseed oil is shipped to Europe and there used to adulterate olive oil. Our importers are too smart to pay freight twice across the Atlantic when an oil of home made oil has been so loose that they could just as well do the adulterating after it reached here. That it is often adulterated by the time it reaches the consumer cannot be denied but according to Consul General Skinner his sophisticated investigation of this oil of the water, not that Europeans themselves have any objection to a carefully proportioned adulteration with other vegetable oils. Indeed the oil commonly sold in Europe for table use is frequently mixed and no mystery is made about it.

The process of manufacturing a perfect oil is one of patience, industry and personal supervision from first to last. The ripening of the olives not being possible on all lands, or even on the same two or three separate pickings have usually to be made. This should be done in a warm weather when the oil is not damp from previous rains. Hand picking is the best method to be recommended as it does not injure the fruit. Picking and shelling should only be resorted to when the oil cannot be reached by any other available means. There are four grades of olive oil known as the first, second, third and fourth pressing.

The olives are placed in a crusher a large stone receptacle in the center of which is the crushing wheel which is over the fruit and mashes it to a pulp. When the fruit is crushed the pulp is transferred to the presses. These are steel bodied tubs much like the familiar older press. A pressure is applied and the fluid that is drawn off is called the pure or virgin oil. This first pressing is then put carefully aside to go through other processes before it is ready for the market. The residue of the pressing called the oil cake is allowed to stand for twenty-four hours when it is crushed again by using a much heavier pressure. The resultant oil is the second grade while a third and fourth pressing with all the olive oil that can be squeezed out of the fruit furnishes the oils of inferior grades.

How to Select Oil. In selecting olive oil both the eye and the palate must be consulted. If olive oil is dark in color or possesses the least bad odor it may be condemned at once. Good oil should be bright and of a golden color and possess a delicate taste of the fruit. The oil obtained from unripe fruit has a greenish shade and a rough peppery taste. Overripe olives yield a very pale oil, deficient in flavor and it is not already rancid liable to become so. Under the influence of cold, olive oil loses its brightness and turns cloudy, but this natural phenomenon is of no moment whatever. As the contents of the bottle warm the floating flakes will disappear and the oil become clear. A little sediment in the bottom of a bottle is also unimportant as new olive oil, when bottled early in the season, is apt to deposit some dirt before it is completely clear. The ultimate test of quality is the palate but this requires a nice discrimination born of practice. According to an eminent authority on the subject it has been demonstrated that while the tip of the tongue discriminates between pungent tastes, such as pepper and mustard and the central part as to sweets and bitter, the back part of the tongue and throat must be called upon for the proper testing of oils, fats and butters.

Good olive oil when tasted by itself should be pure and simple. Olive oil does not improve with age and should not be bought in quantities that would hold over more than a year. Properly kept where it is dry, cool and dark it may retain its sweetness and freshness for full two years or not longer.

As a Health Food. As a remedial agent olive oil has few equals and no superiors. Within its amber recesses lies stored a wealth of healing, that produces vigor and elasticity of the body, aids digestion, strengthens the nerves, promotes suppleness and helps the brain to attain the best possible development. It has been observed for centuries that those who treat olive oil as a common article of food and use it as such are generally healthier and stronger than those who do not. The Hebrews who have always used olive oil in their cooking and eating have nearly always been immune from most endemic and epidemic diseases. The Greeks and Romans used it largely in their eating, as the feast of Lucullus olive oil figured along with the peacocks' brains and nightingales.

For centuries the peasants of South France, Italy, Spain and Turkey have recognized its value both as food and medicine.

In San Francisco the well known Captain Diamond, who has gone six or seven years beyond the century mark attributes his longevity, good health and the preservation of his faculties to the free and constant use of the very best olive oil. It was formed for years a considerable part of his daily diet while employed externally to keep his muscles firm and his joints flexible. If he has an ache or a few drops are poured into the ear and kept there with a bit of cotton. A lame shoulder receives a good rubbing with the oil. Not a pain or ache can withstand its application. It is extremely digestible and on account of its healing and soothing qualities proves most valuable in cases of chronic indigestion and dyspepsia. Stubborn cases of dysentery have been cured by the pure oil mixed to a paste with powdered cracker dust.

A California woman the wife of a prominent Los Angeles physician never travels without providing herself with a jelly glass full of this mixture as an emergency diet or medicine. Physicians are also recognizing the value of the oil as a potent agent for any defects of the excretory ducts especially the skin.

Use Externally. Even from the days of the Roman athletes, who used the freshly expressed oil of the olive to give agility and suppleness to their limbs its efficacy has remained unimpaired. In all the Levantine countries it is used as a preventive as well as a remedy for rheumatism, gout and other similar maladies which are aggravated by external chills. The free use of olive oil after a hot or Turkish bath acts as a safeguard from chill and a tonic. It builds up the tissues and

Remedy for Traction Insolence

The spirited demand made before the Board of Supervisors by leading citizens of Hayward yesterday for a better service than the wretched ramshackle, inadequate one the Oakland Traction Company is now affording its patrons throughout the county was met with the suggestion that no power can compel the corporation to cease abusing its franchise privileges and live up to its obligations to the public. At present the Traction Company neither obeys the law, complies with the terms of its franchises nor gives the public a decent service in return for the multitude of favors it has received from the county and the various municipality grouped on the eastern shore of the bay.

Nevertheless the people do have the power to right their wrongs and compel this arrogant corporation to obey the statutes and the municipal ordinances. Mr. Marwedel has shown what one citizen can do if he be resolute and intelligent. He has made the Traction Company pay a car tax that it has avoided paying for fourteen years, and has challenged the corporation's legal right to the franchise it operates on the county road between Oakland and Hayward.

Charles Heyer, president of the Hayward Town Trustees, Harry W. Meek, prominent as a capitalist and fruit raiser; Dr. F. E. Browning and T. V. O'Brien, proprietor of the Hayward hotel all testified to the vile service given over the Hayward line. Mr. Meek, who was a stockholder and one of the directors of the company which originally built the road, said the service was not as good now as it was ten years ago. Although the traffic has enormously increased, the same old antiquated cars are being run over the same rickety old roadbed. The rails are too light for the cars, and were regarded as worn out five years ago. When the line was sold to the Traction Company it was notorious that it was in immediate need of reconstruction. It is now actually dangerous. The cars are frequently derailed, entailing long stoppages to the great inconvenience of the public, especially as they run at such infrequent intervals and are usually overcrowded.

It is nonsense to assert that there is no power to compel the Traction to give a safe and adequate service for the valuable privileges it enjoys. It is foolish to say the public has no redress for persistent violations of the law of this insolent corporation and its contemptuous disregard of franchise provisions. There is an efficacious remedy for the long-standing abuses ready at hand. Let the people act through primaries and conventions and require all candidates for public office to pledge themselves to enforce the law against the Traction Company: compel it to comply with the terms of its franchises under penalty of forfeiture. The Traction Company has played fast and loose with the public, defied the law and broken every promise it has made to the public because the county and municipal officials have been complaisant and deprecatory in their attitude. Instead of compelling the corporation to fulfill its legal obligations they have begged it to do so, and when it has refused to do so have sat down and sucked their thumbs disconsolately like a parcel of whipped schoolboys.

Things have gone on this way so long and to such an extent that a radical change is imperatively necessary. Every county and municipal convention should take this matter up and pledge every nominee to do his duty. No dodging or equivocating should be permitted. The man who is willing to take the verbal promise of a Traction employee or attorney that the law will sometime in the future be obeyed and a decent service given at some indefinite period should be turned down in convention, or if not, the voters should turn him down at the polls.

Sad experience has taught the people of East Oakland and Alameda the value of Traction promises. They can enter into the spirit of the citizens of Hayward. They have been seduced with false promises on one side and sandbagged for more franchise privileges on the other. Yet the service has grown worse instead of better. All the good service is given to sparsely settled outside localities where the Traction magnates have lots to sell. In the meantime, the older sections of the city are treated to a dwindling service of dirty old cars and curtailed runs. But it rests entirely with the people whether they will longer submit to the lawless imposition.

The Late Senator Gorman

Arthur Pue Gorman was a type of public man that has been out of favor with the masses for a good many years. He was an old school politician who believed that government by party logically meant carrying partisanship into every branch of the public service. According to his idea, none but Democrat's should be employed by the government under a Democratic administration. He was less militant than William L. Marcy in upholding his views, but none the less tenacious in clinging to them.

Yet Senator Gorman was an able man, and as honest and sincere as men in politics usually are. He was by no means the bad man the mugwump press has pictured him. His quiet-reserve and his guarded speech led the multitude to believe he was always plotting, planning, scheming. Men of his own mental mold and belief in regard to party government, no matter of what political affiliation, were naturally his congenial associates in the Senate. Hence he came to be regarded, thanks to the zeal of the mugwump and so-called independent press, as a conspirator against all reforms and all measures to curb the corporations and restrain the predatory instincts of organized capital.

This did Senator Gorman an injustice though it cannot be denied that he was out of sympathy with many of the popular demands of the day. He was a Bourbon by temperament, training and political association, and could not be a radical if he tried. He was an adroit politician rather than a statesman, but his order of talent has been out of favor ever since Cleveland inaugurated the blunt, for the right style of politics. It has been still less popular since Roosevelt introduced the fashion of frankly taking the whole country into his confidence and stating in advance what he thought and what he proposed to do.

For years Gorman cherished Presidential aspirations, but in the nature of things it was never possible for the Democrats to elect him or any man like him. He was of the old South and he was a boss. Either drawback was sufficient to bar him from the Presidency, but he was also out of touch with the modern spirit of Democracy. He was forty years behind time.

The Negro and Common Sense

Booker T. Washington says he is content to be called a negro. And why not?

The word negro is of Portuguese origin, derived from the Latin word niger, and means a black man. Why should a black man shrink from being called by a term which indicates his race and color?

Booker Washington is a man of sound sense, and has in many ways demonstrated his capacity to distinguish the things of real value from the things which have been given an artificial value. In this matter he has simply given another evidence of his discriminating judgment. He realizes that so long as the black man is ashamed of his color he makes confession of inferiority and furnishes an excuse for having himself placed under social ban. Any man who accepts allusion to his race and color by a term which is not specifically opprobrious thereby makes acknowledgment that such allusion implies insult and degradation. Professor Washington discerns the logical inference taking offense conveys. Because he shrinks from the inference he declines to take offense at a term which is both truthful and descriptive.

The founder of Tuskegee believes that the elevation of the black man depends upon his being a man and not on objecting to being called black. He advocates a standard of manhood for black men which would make the word negro a certificate of honor and respect instead of a term of reproach. He reasons that if black men are ashamed of their race and color they cannot logically find fault if white men are ashamed of association with them. His keenly analytical mind perceives the paradox involved in taking offense at a truthfully descriptive term as one implying derogation. It is the idea associated with the term that is derogatory. Once dismiss the idea and there is no derogation in the term.

Usage has made the word negro as descriptive of a branch of the human family as the word Caucasian. It describes not only black men but a black man who is distinguished by other physical characteristics, such as heavy lips, prognathous development and excessively curled hair. It is true this race has been so accustomed to servitude that mention of it involuntarily recalls one of the most painful and humiliating chapters in human annals. But the matter is not mended nor the negro race benefited by whipping the devil around the stump with polite but meaningless terms which sacrifice accuracy to a feeling of mock delicacy on one side and to self-depreciation on the other.

A negro is a negro because he belongs to a certain race, not because he has been a slave or is inferior to other races. Inferiority comes from other causes. There are the Semitic, Caucasian and Mongolian races. The terms which describe them are applicable no matter where these races have their habitat. The native habitat of the negro race is Africa, but other races than negroes inhabit Africa. The Semite is found on every continent and can claim none as his own; indeed, the Semite, the Caucasian and the Mongolian all have the single continent of Asia as their original breeding place, according to paleontologists. It will not do, therefore, to call the negro, particularly the American negro, an African. He is American by birth and a member of a particular branch of the human family for which there is no word accurately descriptive save the term negro, which is, as aforesaid, simply the Portuguese form of the Latin word black.

A Jew does not object to being called a Semite, an Aryan to being called a Caucasian or a Mongolian, a Mongol. Why, then, should a member of the black race to which Toussaint l'Ouverture belonged, object to a term which merely designates him in the same way other races are designated?

The beef packers have vociferously denied selling foul and diseased meats in various prepared forms, but they have strenuously objected to any system of government inspection which would make putting diseased meats on the market impossible. The President has now given Congress conclusive proof of the necessity for rigid inspection. At the same time, he has shown up the packers in a terribly bad light. He has proved that no dependence whatever can be placed in their representations.

GREATNESS OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

London Observer, April 22.

The fury of the flames that threatened to complete the most appalling disaster of modern times and obliterate one of the most beautiful cities in the world has (we now learn from the latest telegrams from San Francisco) been checked by the natural influence of a change of wind, and the danger of complete destruction has thus been averted. On the human side all that could have been done to fight the flames and cope with the needs of a whole city rendered homeless and destitute seems to have been carried out with a heroism, a resourcefulness, a rapidity of action almost inhuman in its steady courage, which the Old World can only view with envy and admiration. After the initial and natural panic caused by the earthquake the city appears to have regained its full coolheadedness. Whereas at Naples superstitious peasants held immobile before the lava, at San Francisco men banded themselves together as firemen and constabulary, working together against the ravages of the elements with coolness and precision, while hooligans set out to rifle and plunder. General Funston never faltered. There was no inertia, delay or panic. All through America supplies were organized and despatched with extraordinary speed; and already a sum of nearly two millions sterling has been publicly subscribed for. All the highest qualities of man—supreme heroism in the face of overwhelming disaster, all the superlative qualities of the American nation—resourcefulness, rapidity of decision and action, common sense, coolness and generosity have been displayed in a manner never previously equalled. And with a fine spirit of independence, worthy of a great nation, President Roosevelt declined all offers of foreign aid—it was for the Americans to help themselves. Such a spirit reveals the greatness of the American people; shows America in her true national character; shows that character in its highest and noblest sense.

PUTS BULLET INTO HIS BRAIN

WIFE FINDS HUSBAND COLD IN EMBRACE OF DEATH.

ALAMEDA, June 5.—Cool and deliberate, but with his mind evidently deranged, Alvin H. Krite went into the basement of his home at 515 Santa Clara avenue yesterday afternoon and sent a bullet crashing through his brain. Death was almost instantaneous. The desperate man left no note explaining his action, nor a farewell to his wife.

It was the painful duty of his wife, Mrs. Minnie Krite, to find the remains of her husband, cold in death, with a 38-caliber Smith and Wesson revolver in his right hand. The man had placed the point of the pistol behind his right ear and coolly fired the shot that ended his life. His features were calm, the terrible experience not distorting them in the least.

Krite had planned to go to a concert with his wife. He went into the basement about 3 o'clock. While there he evidently became deranged, as his money and many papers were scattered about the floor.

Mrs. Krite missed her husband and went into the basement. He was lying on the floor, cold in death. Dr. William Tappan Lum was called and pronounced the man dead. The body was then removed to the morgue.

Krite owned a saloon at the corner of Ninth street and Santa Clara avenue for many years. He recently disposed of it and went into the coal business with C. Peterson. This partnership was recently dissolved.

Deceased was a native of England and 34 years of age. He left no children. The time of the inquest has not been set.

Powell, Miss Maude Wellendorf and Mrs. Howard.

A feature of the evening was the farce written by Mrs. Jennings, entitled "For the Sake of Art," which was a gratifying success, presented by the following cast: Mrs. Arthur Richard, Mrs. Thomas Richard, Madame de la Mettschki and Miss Wellendorf.

The club has had a series of musicals which have been among the most enjoyable of winter events and these reunions will be resumed after summer vacation.

FOR VISITORS.

The Misses Kinard entertained a score of guests last evening at a delightful party given at their East Oakland home. The honored guests were Miss Jean and Miss Cora Fraser of Vancouver, who are visiting here. The evening was passed with games and music, followed by a supper.

KAHN'S—THE ALWAYS BUSY CORNER.

Here's a fair, square store with a splendid stock of merchandise

Tuesday, June 5th, 1906.

When a city the size of Oakland supports, so splendidly, an establishment the size of Kahn's, you can depend upon it that there is something back of the prices and the goods that has bound the firm to the people.

Kahn's don't do an ordinary business, and they are not an ordinary store, either in their merchandise, prices or the treatment of their customers.

The old, old, adage "money back" is lived up to at Kahn's. We insist that every sale shall be a satisfactory one, that our goods shall be exactly as we represent them to be, and that every customer shall be and remain a friend of the house.

We beg patronage from no one but ask attention from all. Our only competition is the record of our own past and our every effort is to give the people of Alameda county the service of a store worthy of the magnificent patronage they are honoring us with.

We are in earnest in all we say and we want you not only to believe in our earnestness but to help us, in every way you can, by suggesting ways and means for facilitating the handling of the immense patronage of the store.

Charles Robinson's Plans For Beautiful

Plans to Have the City Hall at Fifteenth Street and San Pablo Avenue--- Parkway From the Bay to the Center of the City--- Possible County Park System.

The following is the report of Charles Mulford Robinson, who was employed by the city to prepare a beautification plan:

"To the Hon. Frank K. Mott, mayor, and to the honorable, the city council, Oakland, California—Gentlemen. You have instructed me to examine the city of Oakland with a view to suggesting such changes as may add to its attractiveness and enhance its civic beauty.

Since concluding the investigations made in response to this request, the city of San Francisco has suffered from such calamity that in the first rush of sympathy it has seemed a heartless and inappropriate act to plan for the pleasure and beauty of a neighboring community. But in the larger view, in the light of calm consideration rather than of emotion, this must appear to be a wise procedure. The citizens of San Francisco themselves are planning for a greater city, and however necessary for you such forethought may before have seemed, the recent event has added vastly to its importance. Oakland can hardly fall now to increase even more rapidly than heretofore, in population and in business. To increasing extent it must become much more than the dormitory of San Francisco, while becoming that also with more than former emphasis.

"You have to plan for a great city, and for a population that to a peculiar extent will need parks and pleasure-grounds and if these reservations are not chosen now, the cost and general difficulties of securing them will grow much more rapidly than will your ability to meet them. What is no planned for at this propitiously early date may never be obtained. Indeed, there are few cities that, with a power to prepare for the future, are given the opportunity to foresee it with such clearness as it may now be confidently predicted here. Nor is it heartless thus to consider your own future. The future of Oakland will certainly be the home of many of those who have, recently suffered in San Francisco. It can scarcely be doubted that in anticipating that you are as certainly planning for the pleasure and comfort of thousands of them as for the happiness and well-being of yourselves.

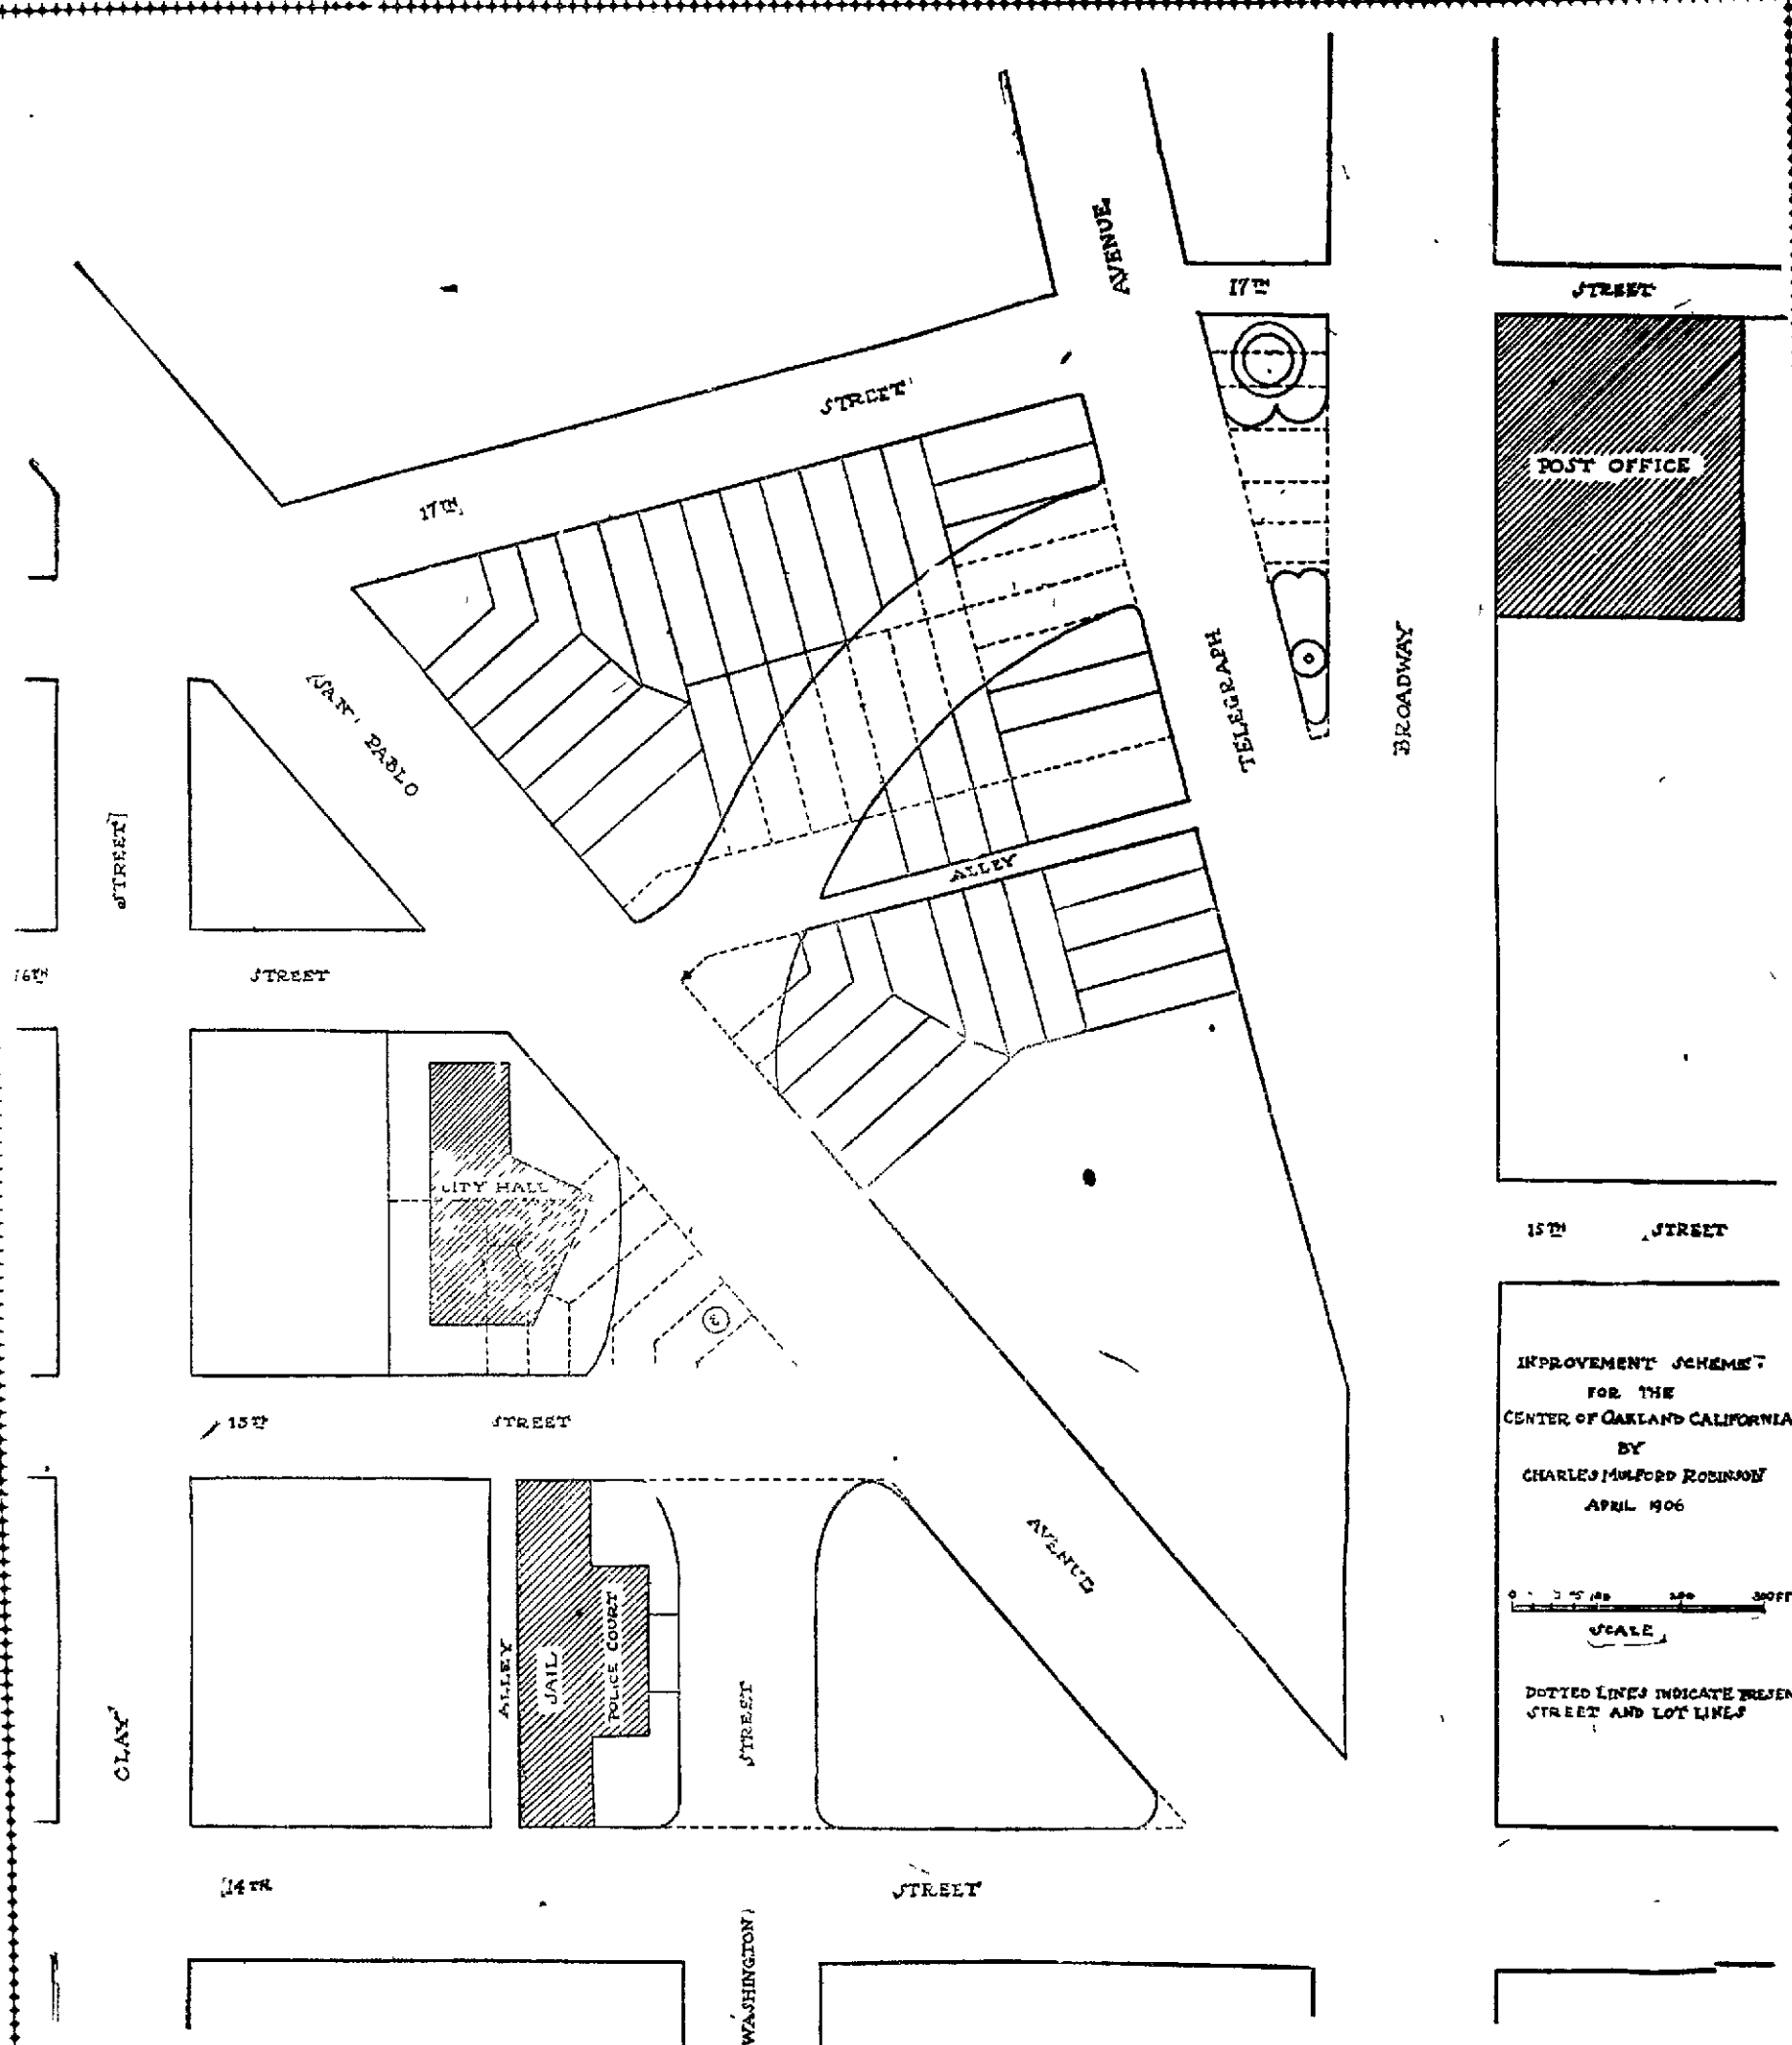

OAKLAND AS IT IS.
"But before drawing a picture of the Oakland you ought to make we must consider the Oakland that is. It were idle to contemplate revolutionary schemes. In order that the city may prosper while it grows there is needed not a new Oakland, but a developed Oakland. I conceive it my duty to study what can be made out of Oakland not how it might be made over. And let me say here that I have found the pursuit of these investigations a most inspiring and pleasant task not alone because of the city's lovely natural setting and the need that advantage be taken of this while time remains, but because of the administration's tireless and cordial co-operation in the work and of the confident and generous backing by the press.

Nor shall we be dealing with only aesthetic needs. Modern city building is a science quite as much as an art. It has to do also with social, moral, commercial and industrial problems for the beautifying of a city is not artistically done—and, therefore, not well done—unless it incidentally helps to solve such questions, just as these problems have not been solved properly until their solutions incidentally add to the beauty of the city. For beauty is not an ornament to be stuck on its essence lies in its structural utility. We must consider, therefore, not merely the superficial beauty of the city but the convenience of its traffic, the social and economic as certainly as the topographical divisions of the urban territory, the means of fire protection and of hygienic requirements, of property values, the future needs as well as the present, and the consistency of the whole plan as well as excellence of details. I shall go into no discussion of all this as it would take a volume, but underlying every recommendation, I can assure you, there will have been consideration of these many factors. You have me on record, as far as the theories go, in my books, and more comprehensively there than I could hope to be in every application to specific cases, as different cities ask advice. I only want to say here that the incidental, but very vital, considerations have not been forgotten and that, in a necessary handling of the subjects one by one, the effect of the whole has in no case been overlooked. My findings and recommendations are, concretely, as follows:

CONDITIONS IN OAKLAND

EXPERT GIVES HIS FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

1.—Conditions. In the approach to Oakland from the bay one sees a city stretching far along the waterfront and back over the flat plain, until the houses begin to climb the foothills. These, lying in rolling terraces beyond, promise views of rare majesty and beauty. The air at every season is soft and mild, the skies are blue, even often when fog hides the bay's other shore, and the homes are separate houses, embowered in roses and wisteria and rising from gardens of

THE COMPLETE EXPLANATION OF THIS DIAGRAM IS GIVEN HEREWITH NEAR THE END OF CHAS. M. ROBINSON'S REPORT.

What a place this appears naturally and sociologically, for parks! GLORIOUS WATER FRONT. And yet to their glorious waterfront, on one of the most beautiful bays of the world, the people of Oakland have no access. There is not a spot on all the long bay and estuary frontage where they are free to watch the ceaseless panorama of the shipping. And on these hills with their noble views and romantic glens, there are no free pleasure grounds to which they have inalienable right, no walks and drives save the lines of direct travel, no seats, no lovely site, except the highway which private ownership may not if it places fence off from public trespass, or use for the erection of signs that with hideous commonplaceness would unescapably dominate the town.

Or one may come into Oakland, as most travelers for the first time do, by the railroad. Then the view of this city of beautiful situation is a bare, marshy plain on the one side, while on the other is the bay. Here, amid desolate and uninviting surroundings, is the station. But from the top of the tall building of the Union Savings Bank there is to be had a third and more encouraging and satisfactory view of Oakland. Thence the final natural topography is again plainly visible and one can see the long straight streets, and the arterial, diagonal thoroughfares converging at the center—with quite the aspect of Paris—and one is gratified to note that at this point there is a little public reservation and that the city hall is here located. Not only then, for its local significance, but because of its central position, this point needs careful development. LARGER PROBLEMS. So the larger problems of Oakland, from the aesthetic standpoint, readily group themselves. We have a large homes—a city, that is, where people not merely work, but live, where children grow up, where is the family life and where the family pleasures ought to be, a city ideally located for parks and pleasure-grounds, and one where the climatic conditions invite the people out-of-doors at all times of the year. Let us consider, then, what can be done to satisfy Oakland's aesthetic needs on practicable lines of development.

GREAT PARK FOR THE CITY

BOATING SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED ON THE LAKE.

2.—Needs.—A. The Great Park.—In a city such as Oakland, an obvious requirement is a considerable park acreage that shall satisfy the community's desire for pleasure out of doors. To do this, the parks, or at least one of them, must be not only of large size, but readily accessible and the park possessions must present, in their entirety, a variety of attractions to suit the varied tastes of the community's members. There should be opportunity for driving, for walking, and if possible for boating; there should be places for picnics for meditation and for games, the landscape work should include, if feasible, both the natural and the artificial, or formal, styles and it would be desirable to have the scenery comprises at once the picturesque and the rugged, the pastoral and the romantic, the closed-in picture and the extended view, so that all the various prejudices of good taste may be gratified, and the community as a whole take pleasure in the scenery publicly possessed. If these varied attractions cannot be included in one park, it will be well to have a series of public reservations of which each unit shall represent a distinct type and serve a distinct function. But if they can be brought together in a single holding, that shall be sufficiently central, there will obviously be a gain in economy of administration, and in largeness of effect.

From the top of the bank building, one looks over a sea of houses, that stretches far except in one direction. This is to the northeast, where near at hand is Lake Merritt. Bare bluffs on its eastern side, a little plot of oaks on the northern, while almost to its further end the hills stretch down in all their natural beauty, making a broad gorge into the city—a natural park site, marvelously preserved from the builder's hands, and convenient of access. THE OPPORTUNITY. The opportunity is too evident to have been overlooked. The city has acquired some land around the lake and is negotiating for more, and for some of the distance a boulevard is already under construction, while the reclaimed land between the lake and Eighth street, an eyesore in its present barren state, and one very centrally located, is to be transformed into a garden spot that shall include, half screened by bordering shrubs, convenient sites for games, such as baseball and tennis. This makes a good start for a park, and there is need only to point out the area's further utilization. Boating should be encouraged on the lake, the city erecting an artistic boathouse on the Twelfth street margin and letting the concession. On one of the other shores, more remote from the tide of business, there should be a bandstand, that the people of Oakland may have among other pleasures the enjoyment of music heard at evening over the water. In the city of Providence, R. I., this is one of the great features at Roger Williams park, where thousands upon thousands of people go out on the lake on summer evenings to listen to the music. A requirement that at night each boat shall carry a lantern will not only make for increased safety, but will add much to the picturesque quality of the spectacle, creating a fairyland scene.

THE BOULEVARD. The boulevard may be properly called the boulevard of the lake, skirting the shore as fast as the land can be secured, except at Adams Point. This, with its grove of oaks, is much too fine a pleasure and picnic ground to be cut into by a drive, and the boulevard will properly take the line of Grand avenue, as now. Adams Point the city must certainly obtain. The boulevard on the east side of the lake, as planned and partially built, can be improved, I think, by some modifications in the design. Its needlessly great width is unpleasant, and incidentally adds large expense for maintenance to the glare and dust and loneliness of the road. I, therefore, recommend that the driveway, narrowed by the insertion of a bridge path, separated from the road by trees and shrubs. This, with further connections beyond—to which I shall later refer—will be a welcome and appropriate feature and could be easily maintained. On the portions of the east shore boulevard that are yet unbuilt, the wide strip permits a change of lines that, by small detours and easy curves, will take away the appearance of railroad directness, which is not desirable on a park drive, where people go to spend time, not to save it. Between the road and water there should be some planting, and a broad gravel walk next to the shore line will make a popular promenade while defending the turf and shrubs from the salt spray.

BARE HILLS. Directly to the east of the boulevard, in some cases rising from the drive in sheer bluffs, are bare hills. Low as they are, these command a view of city and lake, and from the lowlands frame the park picture on this side. The city should add them to its holdings. They can be beautified by planting, and whatever beauty is given to them will, from the conspicuousness of the site, spread its influence far, doing much more than simply adorn the hill. Trails can be made up them that will offer easy walks to advantageous viewpoints, and their reservation will secure, as far as they extend, the beauty of the park, bounding it with heavy irregular planting, in order that no sharply defining line may be seen and that the park may seem to have that indefiniteness of extent which cannot fail, of itself, to be pleasing to the cramped dwellers in a city.

LAKE MERRITT. It has been proposed to include in this park around Lake Merritt the low filled-in land at the head of the lake, between the Pleasant Valley road and Lake Shore avenue. There can here be created an attractive garden, and for the same reasons that it would be well to reserve the bluffs east of the lake, I would be glad to see brought into the city's holdings the hill slope that marks the further limit of this tract. With its greater distance from town this is not quite so essential as the bluffs, and if there could be assurance that it would have an artistic development, with roads that curved with the contour of the hill, with high-class and attractive residences and ample gardens there would be little need for the city to buy it. But such assurance is impossible, since individual idiosyncrasies may be responsible for a most hideous house on the best of lots and even at large cost. The only way of making certain that the park frame on this side will never be ruined is to protect it by purchase. And it is at least as worth while to frame adequately the landscape picture of the public park as to frame adequately a painting. I may adequately note that with the city's purchases extended far enough along these hills beside the Pleasant Valley road, there would be furnished an admirable site for convenient public rest links, the tract so performing a useful function as well as an aesthetic, and putting to use a portion of the park that otherwise would be little used. It may be added, however, that this park reservation is so conspicuously placed that its mere beauty must be a vital factor in the general appearance of the city, and that it is so near to closely built up sections that unless its natural topographic boundaries are safeguarded they certainly will be built upon.

MUST DO DREDGING. In the lake itself, it will be necessary to do some dredging, and from the dredgings one or two small islands can be created. These, however, should be near the shore, that the broad expanse of water may be little broken, as that is one of the best features of the lake. Near shore, too, and connected by artistic bridges, the islands will make very attractive additions to the lake parking. Lake Merritt park, to designate it by its most prominent feature, is thus fairly outlined as to extent (as now suggested), development and use. It will be a most attractive and serviceable little park, but it is by no means sufficient to satisfy the requirements of the city.

DRIVE NORTH OF THE LAKE

SOME SUGGESTIONS ABOUT INDIAN GULCH AND HIGH LAND.

Reaching the Lake Merritt tract near its northeastern corner is romantic Indian gulch, with a parklike road overhung by great trees, following the stream far on its further side. I understand that some years ago there was a project before the people for the purchase of this gulch and road, with the land between and enough on either side to frame properly the picture, the whole strip, known as the Sather tract, amounting in its considerable length to some 100 acres. I know nothing about the reasonableness or otherwise of the proposed price, but I am sure that in not securing this land in some way or other there was made a mistake. It is so nearly a park now, thanks to the taste with which the road was laid out and to the preservation of the scenery's natural charm, that there will be need of very little expenditure beyond that required in the purchase of the land. And it will offer one of the most picturesque and romantic walks and drives that can be found near any large city of my acquaintance, in this or other countries. Considering its availability—in convenience of access, in ease of grade, in opportunities for pleasant return by another route, in suitability of extent—I think, in fact, of no park drive of similar nature to which it is clearly second; and as an adequate municipal park system necessarily includes provision for driving and for those who like beautiful walks, I must urge the people of Oakland to obtain this property. That it will fit in so well with the proposed Lake Merritt park offering a delightful objective to the suggested bridgeway on the east shore boulevard, and to the boulevard itself, is an added reason for obtaining it, as is the possibility of its service as a connecting link in making convenient and beautiful circular drives, or parkways. The Indian gulch road already connects at its upper end with Diamond canyon, and the road through the Indians, with its葱郁的树—

MURDERS MAN AND HIS WIFE

PARTY IS ENDED BY TRAGEDY

Guest Shoots Husband Then Fatally Wounds Woman.

NEW YORK, June 5.—In the midst of gayety attending a birthday party in South Brooklyn today, one of the guests killed another and shot and fatally wounded the latter's wife.

In honor of the birthday of his bride, John Keller gave a party to thirty of his friends at his home, Ninety-second street and Dalgreen place, last night, and among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Kelley, who lived in the neighborhood.

All were seated around a large table and next to Mrs. Kelley, who is 42 years old, was John Kilbright, a young man well-known to all present.

DEMANDS APOLOGY.

The party had been in progress all evening and was concluding with a supper at half past twelve, o'clock this morning, when Kilbright is alleged to have made in an undertone an insulting remark to Mrs. Kelley. Her husband overheard it and immediately demanded an apology.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

Without answer Kilbright is alleged to have risen to his feet and shot Kelley through the head, killing him instantly. In the confusion the guests, as well as the Kellers, all except Mrs. Kelley and Kilbright, left the house.

SHOTS WOMAN.

When the Kellers re-entered their home they heard groans and searching, found Mrs. Kelley lying under a bed in a room on the second floor.

She was fatally wounded, and said that when the others ran away Kilbright had pursued her with his pistol to the upper floor and had forced her into the bedroom and shot her.

WOMEN TO PROBE ALLEGED IMMORALITY

Civic Improvement Club Appoints a Committee to Visit City Refugee Camp.

At a meeting of the Woman's Civic club held yesterday afternoon two important questions were brought before the club. The one of vital importance was the discussion of the rumored atmosphere of immorality said to be in existence at the city refugee camp on Adams point.

Mrs. Cushing reported that Mrs. Eliza Wolfenden, of the East Oakland settlement, was anxious over the possible condition of affairs, and that arrangements would be made at once for the housing of girls not already properly cared for, and special provision would be carried out for the protection of young girls.

Mrs. Clarissa Morris, in her capacity as president of the Woman's Civic club, will talk with Chief of Police Wilson, and special investigation will be made by a committee composed of Mrs. Ida M. Cutting, Mrs. A. M. Cushing, Mrs. J. G. Lemon and Mrs. Turner.

It was also decided at the meeting that this club, which stands for civic improvement in this city, should be known hereafter as the Woman's Civic Club of Oakland.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Frances Williamson and approved. A report was given by Mrs. Alma Kover, corresponding secretary.

QUESTION PUT.

Mrs. Clarissa Morris, president of the club, presided, and put the question before the club whether the subject of a name should be informally voted upon and so disposed yesterday, or whether it would be allowed to remain as unfinished business until the September meeting. The motion was made and carried that the matter be decided at once.

Then followed a discussion. Mrs. Kover was in favor of calling the club an Oakland Civic club, leaving the club open to male membership and the co-operation of citizens.

Mrs. Limon brought up the question whether such a club with mixed membership would be allowed in the women's federation, and thought that the club might be limited to that extent in order to officiate with other women's clubs.

Mrs. Frances Williamson suggested that the individuality as a woman's club should be stated in the name.

"I am certainly in favor of a woman's club," said Mrs. Kover, "but emphasize the fact in the title. It becomes generally known that we are women workers."

NAME OF CLUB.

The fact was then stated that the club was primarily for women with civic pride and willing to work for the good of the community. Mrs. Norris called a vote upon the question and the name Woman's Civic club was definitely fixed upon this enthusiastic group of workers for city improvement.

The officers of this club include Mrs. Clarissa Morris, president; Mrs. S. C. Brinkland, first vice-president; Mrs. A. D. Thomson, second vice-president; Mrs. Ida M. Cutting, third vice-president; Mrs. E. Booth, fourth vice-president; Mrs. Frances Williamson, recording secretary; Mrs. Alma Kover, corresponding secretary; Mrs. K. M. Turner, treasurer, and an executive board composed of Miss Mary Tyrrell, Mrs. C. A. Buschell, Mrs. J. C. Bonham, Delegate to annual district convention, Mrs. A. M. Cushing, alternate, Mrs. J. C. Bullock.

COMMITTS A DARING ROBBERY

Skating Rink in Berkeley Is Relieved of Box of Money.

BERKELEY, June 5.—One of the most daring daylight robberies that have ever taken place in Berkeley was perpetrated at the Uno skating rink yesterday afternoon. The thieves in the presence of hundreds of skaters seized a box of money and coolly made good their escape under the eyes of the proprietor of the pleasure pavilion.

It was at one of the busiest times of the day, a little after four o'clock, that the thieves placed a box up against the wall on the east side of the building and, taking advantage of an open window, entered the skate room and made away with a box of dimes to the amount of $22. A smaller box containing nickels to the amount of $10 was left untouched.

Proprietor Landers of the Uno skating rink at the time of the robbery was teaching a young lady the mysteries of the roller art when he noticed a young man hanging around the place acting in a suspicious manner. But at the time he paid no attention to him except to glance at him and wonder what he was up to. A few minutes after he had finished with the lesson he happened to walk to the steps leading to the pavilion.

There he encountered a young man in a light suit who came running around the building and peered into the entrance under the eyes of Landers himself. The young fellow stood there taken back by seeing the owner of the rink at the doors, but continued to gaze in, apparently looking at the skaters, until Landers withdrew into the building. He then calmly walked away. Circumstances point to the fact that at the time that Landers came to the door of the pavilion the young man had in his possession the box containing the money. He wanted to have a clear field, however, before he made off with the coin.

DEMOCRAT WINS IN OREGON

Republicans, However, Will Get the U. S. Senator.

Two men in the employ of Wilson Brothers, draymen, were struck by a train at Webster and Ninth streets last evening and the wagon was shattered but both men escaped without injury, with the exception of the shock they sustained. E. Regell, the driver of the wagon, states that it was the fault of the drayman who signalled them to cross and then reversed himself, with the result that the wagon was stopped directly on the track.

Robert Burns, Regell's companion, was deep in the bottom of the wagon and was unconscious of the threatening danger and before Regell could do anything to get the wagon out of the path of the oncoming train, the latter had passed. Burns' awakening was sudden and rude, and as he appeared dazed, he was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where he was examined by Steward Harry Borchert, who, however, failed to detect any injury. Regell, the driver, also escaped with a few slight bruises. The wagon was smashed beyond repair, however, but the horses escaped.

PASTOR COLLECTS FUND.

BERKELEY, June 5.—Sunday morning Rev. C. K. Jennings, pastor of the Episcopal church, took up a collection in his church for the benefit of the fund which is being gathered to pay back to the saloonkeepers the money which they had paid in for licenses. Rev. Jennings will ask the remainder of the churches to co-operate with him in this matter, and it is expected that a goodly sum will be realized in this way.

BUILDING UNDER THE GROUND

Such is Plan of Chicago Engineer Outlined in Address.

CHICAGO, June 5.—A subterranean age when theaters will be built under ground and the busy hum of factories will resound from far beneath the sidewalk was forecast last night by Engineer John M. Ewen in an address before the Men's club of St. Peter's Episcopal church.

Mr. Ewen's subject was "Erecting a Chicago Skyscraper." But while he pointed out that the erection of buildings fifty stories high is perfectly feasible, he said it is also probable that in the future more attention will be paid to digging habitable holes beneath the street level.

Mr. Ewen declared that the San Francisco earthquake proved the superiority of modern fire-proof steel construction over all other methods of building. He advocated the use of wire glass with metal frame and sash in place of plate glass and wooden frame and sash, as a measure of fire protection.

A new method of construction was outlined by the speaker. Stated briefly, it contemplates leaving the structure unexcavated until the superstructure is well along, the exact reverse of the other method. Mr. Ewen said the advantage of the method lies in the fact that it ensures against the sinking of streets and adjoining buildings.

RELIEF CAMPS TO CLOSE

All Stations To Be Discontinued One Week From Today.

Twenty-one members of the executive committee of the Oakland general relief committee met at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce to consider the question of closing the camps and ending the local relief work. As General Greely notified the committee that he wished to withdraw soldiers from the camps on June 11, the relief committee was confronted with the alternative of closing the camps or continuing the relief work without the aid of the soldiers. A motion to postpone the meeting to a later date was defeated by a unanimous vote. The committee then decided to close the camps and relief work one week from today. The matter was therefore expected that it could not be done. General Greely will furnish a number of relief guards for the camps until such time as the committee is able to find relief work. After June 11 the relief committee will resume charge of the work of caring for the refugees.

Another matter considered by the committee was that of providing mechanics with tools. A motion to procure tools for those mechanics who had lost their implements in the fire was carried. The matter was then referred to the committee to be attended to. The matter was therefore left in the hands of Mr. Stratton.

Dr. E. E. Baker, who has been eager for some time, provided over yesterday's relief work. The attendance was large, twenty-one members being present. Major Irwin attended as the representative of the soldiers, and a delegate from the Massachusetts relief committee was also present.

The matter was reported to the police and a good description of the person suspected of the crime furnished to Marshal Vollmer to aid in apprehending the culprit.

He is described as a young man of medium weight, about 5 feet 7 inches in height. He wore a light suit and a light hat. His face was smoothly shaven. Landers asserts that he had such a good look at the man that he can at once identify him.

OBJECTS TO SNYDICATION'S LIQUOR DEALINGS

Grog Sold at Piedmont and Emeryville While Oakland Saloons Remain Closed.

In a communication read before the city council last night the Realty Syndicate was severely scored by William J. Mitchell, who unsparingly criticized the corporation for its action in keeping open the bar at Piedmont springs, while the Oakland Herald was demanding that the saloons of Oakland be closed. Mr. Mitchell suggested that the city council set forth the facts stated in his communication in the form of a resolution, and that the latter be made a public record, to the end that the city of Oakland might be cleared of the charge of being responsible for all of the drunkenness recently seen on the streets of this city.

In his communication to the council, Mr. Mitchell said:

"To the Oakland City Council—Gentlemen: It seems to have escaped the attention of your honorable body that while the Realty Syndicate newspapers were clamorously demanding that the saloons in Oakland be closed, the Syndicate's bar at Piedmont springs was running wide open, day and night, and providing the material for revelry to all who had the price and cared to pay car fare on the Syndicate's car lines to the liquor joint that this corporation maintains just outside the city limits."

"While the Herald was vociferously abusing your honorable body for not closing the Oakland saloons, magnates of the Realty Syndicate were drinking fine imported liquors at Piedmont springs and noting with observant interest the avidity with which the vulgar herd consumed the beer and whisky retailed over the Syndicate's bar."

"The Syndicate's newspaper, which undertook to give the law and gospel to your honorable body, is published in Emeryville, which is outside the city limits of Oakland and has a separate municipal government of its own. All the time the Herald was asking you to make Oakland a closed town, the saloons of Emeryville were wide open. They were open at night and on Sunday when the saloon proprietors had voluntarily closed their places of business. Nevertheless, the Herald has never demanded that the trustees of Emeryville close the saloons of that town, the saloons located within a stone's throw of the Herald's office.

"It is not unlikely that many of the drunks arrested by the Oakland police got their liquor at Emeryville or Piedmont springs. At least, the cars were continually carrying thirsty parties out to those places when there were no saloons open in Oakland."

"In justice to this city and to your honorable body these facts should be made generally public. I do not contend that the saloons in Emeryville and Piedmont springs did not have the right to keep open, but I do protest against the attempt to close the Oakland saloons by persons financially interested in keeping similar establishments in these places open. I particularly object to the drunkenness for which those places are responsible, and by which the Realty Syndicate has profited, being chalked up to the city of Oakland."

"I therefore suggest that your honorable body adopt resolutions setting forth these facts, and have the same made a public record, as a matter of justice to this city, its officials and inhabitants."

"Respectfully,

"WILLIAM J. MITCHELL."

Owing to press of business, action on the communication was postponed by the council until a later meeting.

WANT ANOTHER FRANCHISE

KEY ROUTE MANAGER AGAIN BEFORE THE CITY COUNCIL.

The question of granting the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose Railway, commonly known as the Key Route, a franchise over Claremont avenue, came up for consideration at last night's meeting of the council and before the discussion was over several of the councilmen were told by John McHugh, that they were evidently railroad councilmen. The matter was finally laid over to the next meeting.

McHugh, Anna M. Grace and Innocent Gargio were three protestants who objected to the electric train coming along Claremont avenue and McHugh represented them. When the matter came up, McHugh asked to be heard and said:

"We object to the granting of this franchise because the street is but 64 feet wide, and to lay double tracks there would spoil the street."

McHugh—Fourteen feet wide. Saccocc—Couldn't you narrow them down a little?

McHugh—I am not expecting much from you, Mr. Saccocc, you are a railroad councilman.

SCHOOL BOARD IN SESSION

REPAIRING OF DAMAGE DONE BY EARTHQUAKE IS DISCUSSED.

At the meeting of the board of education last night the matter of contractors repairing earthquake damage on unfinished school buildings at their own expense again came up. A letter from District Attorney Allen was read, in which he advised the board to make a superior court test of the Grant and Franklin schools, the buildings were practically completed before the earthquake and the architect had examined the Franklin, declaring his intention of accepting it. However, no official action had been taken by either the architect or the board, and District Attorney Allen reiterates his statement of last week to the effect that without such official action the school buildings still remain in the contractor's hands, and must be delivered in a finished condition. As was pointed out last week, some of the buildings had been accepted in part and partly paid for, which rather complicates the situation, as the contractors would not, in any event, consent to repair damages in the already accepted portions. Yet the board had accepted the buildings on the basis that only an official acceptance of each building as a whole relieves the contractors.

GROVE STREET SCHOOL. In the case of the Grove street school, the contractors have notified the board that they will go ahead and finish the school, abiding by a superior court decision in regard to repairing their money for earthquake damages repaired.

The board took no official action last night regarding the matter. It had been suggested at a previous meeting that it might be well to ask the plans of the unfinished schools as to make them earthquake proof. In the opinion of District Attorney Allen, the board has no right to make any radical changes.

A communication was received from G. W. Frank, insurance brokers, calling attention to the earthquake clause in some policies and advising the board to see if anything could be collected. The matter was postponed until a later meeting.

WOMAN'S DEFENSE IS NOVEL

Swallowing of Diamond Said to Have Been Accidental.

CHICAGO, June 5.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Omaha says: Mae Thomas, who swallowed a $300 diamond while examining the gem in a jeweler's tray, pleaded not guilty yesterday when arraigned in court on a charge of grand larceny, and her attorney, W. W. Dodge, announced a novel line of defense in the case.

"There will be no prosecution of Miss Thomas," said the lawyer. "She has shown her honesty by offering to return the diamond. We absolutely deny any felonious intent to steal it. Miss Thomas went into the jewelry store with the legitimate purpose of examining the diamonds. While doing so she placed one of the stones between her teeth to test its hardness and suddenly two detectives rushed at her, and one of them clapped his hands over her mouth. In her fright she swallowed the jewel."

TAX TALK AT SACRAMENTO

CLAIM STILL MADE THAT DELINQUENCY WILL NOT BE UNTIL JULY 10.

SACRAMENTO, June 5.—"California has protected and been lenient to people in all lines of business and why should she not extend time of her people to pay taxes in this emergency?"

It was this sentiment, expressed by Attorney Garret McEnery, which prevailed and prevented the introduction of a bill for the purpose of amending senate bill No. 1, which, among other things, made taxes delinquent only on June 10. The proposed amendment was intended to exclude from the powers of the bill the exemption from paying taxes until the date specified and made those taxes delinquent within a few days.

Assemblyman Chandler of Fresno was to have introduced the bill, but changed his mind when the sentiment which opens this chapter was expressed.

DELINQUENT JULY 10.

Taxes will not, therefore, become delinquent until the 10th of July next. The delinquency tax list must be published on July 16, so that only six days will be allowed county tax collectors in which to prepare their delinquent list for publication.

LISTS ALREADY RECEIVED. In Controller Colgan's office sixteen delinquent tax lists from as many counties have been received and others are on the way. The counties which issued these lists paid no attention to the legal holidays in the way of considering them as a bar to payment of taxes.

At the capital today it was said that all of these publications were illegal and would have to be done over again between the 10th and 16th of next month, when the taxes really become delinquent.

board's insurance policies and make a report.

NO WORK TO DO.

Mr. Rogers introduced a motion to the effect that the building and sites committee do away with the services of H. S. Schwalbe, who acts as advisor to the committee. Mr. Rogers said the position at present, carried no duties and that the man was being paid by the highway and city, and it was decided to have the building and sites committee report on the matter Monday night.

MONEY NEEDED BY UNIVERSITY

LEGISLATORS TO THOROUGHLY LOOK INTO STATUS OF INSTITUTION.

SACRAMENTO, June 5.—President Wheeler of the University of California and Regent Foster of the same institution came here yesterday for the purpose of conferring with the finance committee of the senate and the ways and means committee of the house regarding the appropriations asked for the university in bills now pending before both houses. The sums called for by those bills are as follows:

For the loss of income from the shrinkage of the two-cent tax, and for the loss of dividends on certain shares of capital stock of certain corporations, $123,392.31.

For the repairing of certain damages to the dental, medical, western and veterinary buildings of the affiliated colleges, $8600.

To enable the regents to restore property damaged and destroyed upon the campus and in the department of architecture, astronomy, chemistry, music, physics, printing office, museum, dental clinic, college of pharmacy, medical, "out patient" section, stationery, anthropology publications, library, Wilkeson school and Lick observatory, $27,030.58.

To reimburse the regents for the loss of income on property destroyed in the San Francisco fire, $41,480.

To reimburse the regents for loss of revenue from the destruction of property, $3,641.50.

These sums make a total of $209,523.37.

President Wheeler discovered that there was a decided feeling here against granting the requests contained in the bills. This feeling was manifested by senators and assemblymen who have at various times in the past voted liberal appropriations to the institution. Of course, this feeling was not general, but it was intense enough to create the impression that some of the requests would be denied, and that those which would appear most strongly to the legislators be cut down in a radical manner. This state of mind was not inspired by any hostility to the university in itself, but by the desire to economize and adapt the institution to financial conditions by which it finds itself hampered.

President Wheeler and Regent Foster, however, are of the opinion that all the above requests should be granted.

As a last resort, however, it is reported that they have said that the bills might be cut down about $50,000.

COLGAN'S ESTIMATES.

Controller Colgan was consulted by President Wheeler shortly after the arrival of the latter here today as regards his estimate of the loss sustained in San Francisco and elsewhere. Information on this subject will play a prominent part in settling this question for the reason that the university derives a revenue equal to a tax of two cents upon each $100 of taxable property.

On the 23d of last April, that is, five days after the great fire, President Wheeler was told that the loss would be about $650,000,000. The revenue, at the rate of two cents on each $100 of taxable property would be about $120,000. It will be noticed that one of the bills under consideration calls for an appropriation of $127,000.

LATER FIGURES.

Since that time Mr. Colgan has had an opportunity of looking more closely into the matter, and has come to the conclusion that in San Francisco the income-bearing property for the university which was destroyed, will not exceed $150,000,000. If this idea should obtain, members of the senate say that the heaviest request of the friends of the university will have to be greatly modified.

WHERE REGENTS SAVED MONEY.

The story was told in the corridors this morning that Senator Curtin induced President Wheeler to show how he had saved some money in the purchase of the state agricultural farm in Yolo county.

"You secured a very fine farm for the university; did you not, professor?" asked the senator.

"Yes, indeed," was President Wheeler's answer.

"And you saved the state some money, did you not, professor, in that deal?"

"Yes. We saved $46,000."

"Why don't you use that money in the repairing of some of the damages sustained by the university?" inquired the senator.

But President Wheeler was silent as to what use the money would be applied. The purpose which the sum will be made to subserve will be one of the inquiries which the finance committee will make at its perspective meeting with Wheeler and Foster.

MACKAY'S DONATION.

"There is one thing which I would like to know," said a member of the finance committee of the senate today to THE TRIBUNE correspondent, "and that is, what is to be done with the $100,000 which Mackay telegraphed President Wheeler soon after the fire?"

"I understand that Mackay, who was in the east at the time, thought that the university buildings at Berkeley were destroyed by the earthquake, and that he wired President Wheeler $100,000 to aid in rebuilding."

"Now, I think that money should be applied for the rebuilding of the structures of the university which were destroyed in San Francisco. The money was sent for the university, but there were none of its buildings destroyed at Berkeley, and I feel that the money should be used to help the big school in this emergency."

Senator Leavitt said that it was a

SILENT WORK IN SENATE

E. F. WOODWARD DISQUALIFIED BUT STILL HE WATCHES HIS COUNTY'S INTERESTS.

SACRAMENTO, June 5.—Senator Perkins will not be required to ask President Roosevelt to temporarily relieve him from duty Surveyor of the Port of San Francisco E. F. Woodward, in order to enable the latter to represent his Santa Rosa district in the senate, as he has represented it for a number of years past. A short time since it was believed that the president would have to intervene in the manner indicated for the purpose of enabling Senator Woodward to look after the interests of the stricken cities of Sonoma and Santa Rosa in the present session of the legislature, thus overcoming the prohibition of the constitution against a civil officer of the state or of California being filled by a federal officer.

Senator Woodward, since the last session of the legislature, was appointed to a federal office in San Francisco, but did not resign his position as senator. Assembly Trip of the same county was appointed postmaster in that section, and he, too, came under the prohibition in question.

WITHOUT A REPRESENTATIVE.

For this reason it was apparent that Sonoma county would be without a representative in the legislature, and it was decided to ask President Roosevelt to see if Senator Woodward could not, in the present emergency, devote a little time to Sonoma in this emergency session.

Senator Woodward brought the subject to the attention of the president, and conveyed to Senator Woodward the idea that President Roosevelt would, in all probability, be able to grant the desired request.

The senator's good offices, however, will not now be required, and Senator Woodward has already informed him of the fact by wire.

NOT ELIGIBLE.

This change in the situation has been occasioned by the fact that Senator Woodward has unearthed an old decision of the Supreme court of this state in an identical case, in which it was held that a person who has been duly eligible and elected to a civil office of profit under the state can no longer hold that office after having accepted and is in possession of a lucrative federal office.

The decision was rendered in the case of a supervisor named Thomas Leonard in Tuolumne county, who had been appointed postmaster. The salary of supervisor was $400 and of the postmaster $500 per year. His right to hold the position of supervisor, under the circumstances, was contested. Leonard lost in the Superior court and appealed to the Supreme court, where the opinion summarized above was given.

THE LAW.

This decision was supposed to determine the meaning of article IV, section twenty, of the California state constitution, and is recorded in California 13, page 231. It was handed down in 1853. The section in question is as follows:

"No person holding any lucrative office under the United States or any other power, shall be eligible to any civil office of profit under this state; provided, that officers in the militia who receive no salary, local officers or postmasters whose compensation does not exceed $500 per annum, shall not be deemed to hold lucrative offices."

SENATOR'S CONCLUSION.

When Senator Woodward read the decision in question he concluded that he could not legally hold the two offices, and decided that he would not put the president to the trouble of striving to aid him in the work of serving two constituencies. He decided that the acceptance of the federal office in effect deprived him of the civil office, and so informed Senator Perkins of the fact.

SILENT SENATOR.

At the same time the senator is daily in the senate chamber watching mistakes, when everything was so seriously stricken by the earthquake that the university alone should be maintained on the old basis. He would, he said, treat the university in a fair manner, but it had to be reasonable in its demands.

FRANKIE NEIL IN SOUTH

BOXING WILL BE ON CARD TONIGHT

Everything is in readiness for tonight's fight session at the Reliance club, and with six good bouts carded the fight fans are looking forward to an interesting evening. The dozen pugilists who will take part in the entertainment are all in good trim and the bouts will be fast from beginning to end.

Henry League and Frank Flores are scheduled to mix things in one of the two main events, while the other will bring Chris Hampton and H. Davis, two heavies, together. This bout should be a hard one, as Hampton is unusually clever for a big man and carries an awful wallop wrapped up in either glove. Davis is confident of his ability to give Hampton "his needles," but whether he will or not is a question.

LIBRARY TRUSTEES LISTEN TO REPORT

BERKELEY, June 5.—At the regular meeting of the library trustees held last night in the Public Library, all the members were present except E. H. Webb. The regular monthly bills were passed upon and the librarian's report was read and filed.

"During the time the library has been closed, all the employees have been doing their best to keep the books in good shape. That of the staff has been engaged all the time on the reclassifying and cataloging, and part of the time on the new books. The West Berkeley reading room has been open twenty-two days. On account of dust and dirt necessary to be made in plastering and the work from repairs, the books were protected from injury by covering them carefully on the shelves in the upper rooms of the needed repairs. The books in this department required no protection, and books were given out on orders from the stacks and the branch reading rooms as shown by the following report of books issued:

"Direct from library, 55 volumes; through South Berkeley, 450; through West Berkeley, 245; total, 750. 72 per cent, other classes, 28 per cent, 811 volumes.

"Borrowers' cards—in force May 1, 1906, 5681; issued during May, 59; expired 238; surrendered 10-263; income June 1, 1906, 4503. Accessions to library—Purchased, none; gift, 23.

"Branch reading rooms—Visitors: South Berkeley, 2003; daily average, 99 1/2. West Berkeley, 2098; daily average, 83 1/2.

"Repairs on the library building are progressing rapidly and it is expected that the building will be opened in a few days.

A Secret
It takes nature a little, that's the only secret about it. We refer to Ayer's Hair Vigor. It feeds the hair, makes the scalp healthy. The hair stops falling out and all dandruff disappears. The result could not be different, for it's the natural way. And it's a splendid dressing, keeping the hair soft and smooth. Why not save what hair you have and get more at the same time? J. C. BASEBALL AND GOSSIP FOR FANS

In the series that was brought to a close yesterday the Seals won eight games and the Rainiers won two. The Seals made a total of 47 runs, as opposed to 27 for their opponents. Hitt won 3, Henley 2 and Randolph 2 games, none of these three losing a contest. Of the other twirlers who went in the box, Wolters won 2 and lost 1, Sals broke even in 2 games, Fitzgerald captured 1 and lost 1, McGregor and O'Brien each lost 1, while Lemke and Shea were responsible for 2 defeats each.

Before one of last week's games in the north a release was inserted, together with a check, in the envelope of Hick Belt, Seattle's twirler. After the game had gone an inning or two, Russ sent Belt in to pitch, feeling that there was no use working Charlie Hall to death, as the Seawaves were playing like a band of mutes. Hick pitched a magnificent article of ball, surprising Russ Hall and the fans, but his flash of form came too late. Belt is a gentleman and very likeable, but he is useless as a team aside from his twirling ability, as he fields his own position very poorly and cannot be used anywhere in the infield or outfield to advantage.

VAN BUREN IN SEATTLE.
Van Buren, who held down first base for Henry Harris for a while and then went to Portland to hold down one of the outer gardens, has been signed by Seattle and will report for duty shortly. He will be put in center field and his position will give a much-needed rest to Charlie Hall and Jones, who have been compelled to play in the outfield when not pitching and have had no rest whatever of late. Van was given a new deal by Judge McCredie this year, being kept on the club's list until it was too late for him to sign elsewhere and then being dropped.

Soldier Klaus, who has been pitching good ball for one of the semi-professional clubs since Buck Finney was recruited for Tacoma, will be given a trial by Russ Hall. Klaus gets his discharge from the army this week and will report for duty at once. Those who have watched his work look for him to make good in fast company.

Rockenfield is playing short for St. Paul and is hitting the ball with great frequency. Jess Stovall is holding down the middle garden for Louisville and may quit the pitching end of the game.

How to Break Up a Cold.
It may be a surprise to many to learn that a severe cold can be completely broken up in one or two days' time. To do this, however, prompt action is necessary. The first symptoms of a cold are a dry, loud cough, a profuse watery discharge from the nose, and a thin, white coating on the tongue. When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is taken every hour on the first appearance of these symptoms, it counteracts the effect of the cold and restores the system to a healthy condition within a day or two. HEAVY LOSS BY A BIG FIRE

NEW YORK, June 5.—A second fire within the space of two weeks destroyed two more warehouses of the American Cotton Dock company at Tompkinsville, Staten Island, and caused a loss estimated between $150,000 and $200,000. The buildings which were one-story structures were partly filled with Manila and hemp and were located among a group of similar warehouses on the shore of the harbor. The damage was confined to two warehouses. The origin of the fire is unknown.

TROUT FISHING GIVES GOOD SPORT

The heavy rain which fell last Sunday raised the coast trout streams, and anglers who figured on making some nice baskets of trout were compelled to postpone their outing until today. Although Paper Mill creek raised four feet in one day, it fell almost as suddenly and was quite clear on Thursday last above its confluence with Nicola creek. There are plenty of eight and ten inch trout in the stream, which will afford anglers nice sport during the present month. On Friday two well-known disciples of fly fishing fished the Paper Mill between Lagunitas station and Camp Taylor and caught a limit of fifty each. Some trout taken measured twelve inches. All of the coast trout streams are now in fine order, and anglers who are desirous of making the opportunity offered for nice sport before the water will have run too low for fishing. The San Geronimo, Pescadero, Los Gatos and Boulder creeks are in fine condition for fly fishing at present.

Good striped-bass fishing can be had along the Alameda shore and off Point Tiburon. Several large bass were taken by anglers who were trolling during the week near the islands off Point Tiburon.

Good catches of trout were made on Friday for anglers who fished the Lagunitas lake, which body of water was opened to fishermen on June 1 by the San Rafael Water company.

The Russian river, between Garberville and Duncan Mills, is loaded for black bass by a number of local anglers. On June 1 the season for black-bass fishing opened. "Billy" Street and a friend are fishing for black bass today in the small lake near Sebastopol, on the line of the California North-western railroad.

OAKLAND MAY LOSE ITS PLAYERS BY SALARY CUT

IS DISRUPTION IN SIGHT?

PLAYERS BY SALARY CUT

PORTLAND, Or., June 5.—The Evening Telegram today says: "It is a gloomy future that looms up before the demoralized Oakland baseball team that left Portland Sunday night for a week's series with San Francisco in their home town. The practical disruption of his team is the prospect that is worrying Manager Van Halgren."

All but four of the men, who are youngsters in the game, must accept a big cut in salary, beginning this week. By the rules of the national association, the players can accept or they can demand their release. As every man is dissatisfied, they may take the alternative and trust to getting places in the east. A player so doing could not play with another coast league team, but would be black-listed.

The Oakland team arrived in this city this morning. Manager Van Halgren, when seen in reference to the above dispatch, said: "Yes, it is true that I received word while in the north to reduce the salaries of a number of the men. Of course, this was absolutely necessary in view of the changed condition. Several of our men have homes in the east, and stated to me that they would rather return to them than accept a cut in salary. I believe the rules of the national association give them this privilege. "No one has asked for his release as yet, however. I told the men that before considering this notice as final or taking definite action, they had better wait till I could talk to the directors. I will meet them at once, and ascertain just exactly what is to be done. It is hard to tell just what the future holds in store."

"We have our catcher, Ellis, back again, as he was returned to us by Los Angeles, their catcher, Bobby Eager, having joined them. If any of our own pitchers leave us, we will use Randolph as well as Hopkins, the latter being another whom we loaned to Los Angeles. Two other men, Hall and Tomlan, have joined the Los Angeles team, so they are in pretty good shape now. They had not heard from that I received word while in the north. Ross also had not reported."

SUPPORT BLISS IN ABSENCE

HOW ASSEMBLY REFUSED TO TAKE BILLS FROM HIS COMMITTEE.

SACRAMENTO June 5.—The assembly yesterday afternoon refused to allow the appropriation bills which have been presented by the University of California asking for $200,000 to be transferred from the university committee, to which they have been referred, to the committee on ways and means, owing to the fact that the chairman of the former body, Assemblyman Bliss, was unavoidably absent from the chamber, but it was announced that he would be on hand in the evening. There was a snap to the vote in the negative which showed that those opposing the project did not want to be discourteous to the chairman, no matter how much they favored an expeditious dispatch of business.

Assemblyman Espey of Oakland made the motion in substance that the bills in question be transferred as above indicated. He said that the chairman of the university committee was absent, and it was necessary to expedite business. The committee on ways and means had nothing before it. It was customary for such bills to be considered by the university committee for the purpose of determining the needs of the institution and the bills then went to the ways and means committee. A majority of that committee were members of the university committee and both organizations would thus be giving consideration to the measure.

Assemblyman John Strobridge opposed the motion. He said that Mr. Bliss was the chairman of the university committee and was the dean of the house. It would be discourteous to take bills from his committee and give them to another committee, especially when he was absent from the city.

Mr. Espey said that the university had previously received what it asked. Assemblyman Strobridge said that that would not be the case this year. Espey retorted that Strobridge was not a member of the committee.

Strobridge said that that was true but that he had a vote anyway. Espey said he thought the bills would be passed down and they would have to go to the committee on ways and means anyway and time would be saved by reference at this time.

Stanton said there were no bills before the committee on ways and means and that if the bills in question and those carrying appropriations were referred to it he believed it would be able to get through in three days.

Houser said it would be well if the university appropriation bills could be considered jointly by the two committees mentioned.

John said he did not like to vote for the transfer in the absence of his old friend, Elise, the chairman of the university committee, who came from the county, where the university was located, and who was supposed to understand its needs. If there was a great desire to hasten consideration of the bills, there was a next-in-rank man to Mr. Bliss who could do it in his absence and the bills could be considered by the university committee which held them.

Speaker Atkinson said Mr. Bliss would return in the evening. There was a large preponderance of the members voted to leave the bills in the hands of the university committee.

HARD WOK DONE
GETTING CAPITOL READY FOR SPECIAL SESSION

SACRAMENTO, June 5.—There is general satisfaction expressed over the fact that the present session is being held in the capitol, because it is evident that it had been held elsewhere it would have occasioned untold annoyance to the legislators. At the same time, the holding of the meetings elsewhere would have run up quite a bill of expenses which now has been avoided.

A great deal of credit for this state of affairs is being given to J. Louis Martin of Oakland, his assistant Joe G. McCall and his assistant Joe G. McCall and his assistant Joe G. McCall. Mr. Martin learned that to have an outside hall for the session would cost $1000 for a running of ten days and that the rent for each subsequent day would be $125.

Sergeant-at-Arms Martin conveyed this information to Governor Pardee, and declared that he thought he could get the senate chamber into a habitable condition at a trifling cost. The governor and Secretary of State told him to go on with the work.

Sergeant-at-Arms Stafford agreed that he could do the same thing with the house.

Both these chambers looked like the interior of a brick house dismantled by an earthquake. The floors were littered with brick and timber, soiled with plaster and open to the winds of heaven. This condition was brought about by the work of reconstruction which is now being carried on in the capitol.

Mar in called McCall to his assistance, and then there was a furious fight between them and Sergeant-at-Arms Stafford as to which of them would have the work before them finished.

A corps of men was put to work in both chambers and, in three days, both places were ready for occupancy, although the walls inside looked as if they, too, had in some places been shattered in the quake of April 18.

The officers named have been warmly commended by the members of both houses.
